Important Decision In Oil Lands.

Forty-eight acres of land in this county adjoining the now famous Ashley oil pool, occupied for more than fifteen years by the widow and children of John Campbell, who thought they owned the land, was declared the property of O. F. Whisman and other heirs by Judge Shackelford. Arguments in the case had been heard in Lexington last week.

John L. Whisman bought the land in 1883. He died in 1887, leaving a widow and four children, who were the plaintiffs in the case. Soon after the widow remarried. The land involved was sold by assigning the title bond and was passed along from purchaser to purchaser until it came into the possession of John Campbell. He and his heirs had occupied the land and believed they had proper ownership titles, having had possession of the land for nearly 20 years without dispute.

The Campbell heirs had claimed that their title was clear since they had had possession more than 15 years, but the court held that limitation did not begin to run against the plaintiff until the death of Mrs. Whisman, and that the Whisman heirs were entitled to the land as their mother had no legal right to dispose of it.

Raydure Wins Suit

W. S. Raydure, who brought suit against the heirs of the late Joel McKinney, and the heirs of the late Thos. McKinney, and W. P. and Geo. B. Williams and Jas. A. Wallace, to quiet title to oil lands on head waters of Cow Creek in Estill county, valued at $2,000,000, secured a verdict against the Joel McKinney heirs to estop them from litigating the title upon the grounds that the heirs had a knowledge of the developments and allowed Raydure to spend $120,000 in its development, innocently and in good faith.

The McKinneys have appealed with full confidence of success before the Court of Appeals. They claim that nothing but fifteen years adverse possession can take land from rightful owners, and this Raydure has not had, nor does he claim to have had, but does claim that part of the defendants are holding by a deed of general description.

Nominating Book Closes

No more candidates for State officers can now come before the primary this August, nomination books having closed at Frankfort.

Attorney Clarence Miller, of Irvine, was the only candidate from this Legislative district to file his papers, so he will be the only candidate before the people in the coming primary for Representative.

Hot Weather

Tuesday and Wednesday were the hottest days of the year, so far. The thermometer registered 94 degrees in the shade each of these days.

This hot weather is making corn grow, particularly in the bottom land where there is plenty of moisture.

For Representative.

Attorney Clarence Miller, of Irvine, will have no opposition in the primary for the Republican nomination for Representative from this district, composed of Powell and Estill. Neither will he have any opponent in the Democratic ranks since any Democrat failed to register as a candidate in time to get on the primary ballot.

Mr. Miller is a splendid man for the place and the fact that his party in his home county made the track clear for him to get the nomination is good evidence of how he stands within his party. And the further fact that as it is Estill's time to name the Democratic nominee and it has failed to put up any against him, only shows how he is held by the opposing party.

At any rate we are looking forward to Mr. Miller as a most worthy successor to E. B. McGlone, the gentleman from Powell who so ably represented the district during two sessions of the Legislature when temptations to ordinary men were so great that many of them were absorbed by certain interests. But not so with McGlone, he maintained a clear record.

Pearsite Plant Sells

The plant of the Pearsite Company, installed in this city in the late fall of 1915, was sold by A. T. Whitt, Trustee in bankruptcy, at public sale here Friday. Spayer & Son, junk dealers of Lexington, became the purchaser. They paid $11,200 for the outfit. $782 of loose articles had been previously sold by the Trustee. The property was appraised at $12,500. The sale price is therefore nearly 100 per cent of the appraised value.

R. A. Childs, referee, was here to attend the sale, and the following prospective bidders: John F. Casey, Pittsburg, Pa., Phil Gormley, Lexington, W. J. Homer, Irvine.

Red Cross for Powell.

The Civic League of Clay City has planned to organize a branch of the Red Cross Association for Powell county, and to this end have designated Thursday, July 5th, as the date to take up this worthy work. The meeting will be held at 2:30 p. m. at the city school building on above date.

Fiscal Court to Meet.

The Powell Fiscal Court has been called to meet at Stanton Saturday. What matters that are to come up we are not informed, but it is supposed to be something pertaining to road matters.

Exemption Board.

Governor Stanley has appointed Sheriff H. T. Derickson, Co. Clerk I. S. Boone and Dr. Johnson, as the Board of Exemption for selecting the draft of men for Powell county's quota.

At Winchester the Fourth

Winchester is preparing a big patriotic demonstration for July 4th, at which Congressman Cantrell will be the leading speaker.

A Better Clay City

The time has come when the women of Clay City feel the need of a better town, a better people, a cleaner town and the improvement of all the existing conditions.

On Wednesday, June 20th, at 2:30 p. m., twenty of the ladies met at the home of Mrs. T. G. White to discuss the problems of the town and to complete the organization of a Civic League. A short time ago this movement was started and some were a little afraid but when they began to think of their town and of its needs no one wanted to drop out but continue the fight for improvement.

The first hour of this meeting was taken up explaining the organization and the great work of such a movement, followed by the election of officers and committees and a round table discussion. Many questions were asked and many things brought up for examination then and later to be investigated.

With a membership of twenty charter members, each charter member become a membership committee and it is hoped that the next meeting will see the number doubled. Every citizen of Clay City eventually will be one of these willing workers doing his or her bit to make a better town. These ladies realize that it is thru organized bodies great work can be done and they ask the co-operation of the City Council and the people in their efforts.

Too much can not be said about the interest shown at this meeting and time will show what these ladies are doing for the betterment of their town and for the young boys and girls.

Winchester Court.

The cattle market in Winchester Monday was slow and draggy with only a few sales recorded at prices from 4 to 4 1/2 cent lower. There were between 350 and 400 head offered at the Hamilton Stock Yards. The biggest sale of the day was made by L. S. Hamilton to C. A. Tabor, 37 head of cattle, aggregating 23,260 pounds changing hands at the figure of 9 cents.

Most of the cattle at the yard went unsold and although the market was off, it furnished but little inspiration to the traders. —Winchester Democrat.

Heard Bryan.

Quite a number of our citizens motored to Lexington Tuesday night to hear the famous orator and statesman, W. J. Bryan, speak on Prohibition and the War. All persons going felt well repaid for making the trip. Several others went to Winchester the following night to hear the same speaker.

Flag Raising.

At a meeting of the Civic League Wednesday it was decided to have a flag raising in Clay City July 4th. Mr. Harrison, the county agent, will be here, and he has promised to secure a prominent speaker for the occasion. It is also hoped that Clay City talent will make itself heard at this time.

Mrs. Bettie Johnson and daughter, Lois, left Saturday for Roachdale, Indiana, where she visits with her son.

Mrs. Harmon left for her home in West Virginia to see her brothers before they left for the war, in France.

Burnam Skidmore of Rosslyn was here last week mingling among his many friends and former town people.

Mrs. Mary J. Brewer, who visited with the writer ten days ago, left Saturday for her home in Valparaiso, Indiana.

Mr. Evans, our liveryman, traded two of his ponies for the auto of John Lyle, who is working for an oil company at the Furnace.

Rev. J. C. Hanley has sold his property where he lives to the United Presbyterian Board, and they will furnish it for the Principal, who will live there.

Henry and Charley Miller and their mother and sister, left Saturday for Blackey, in Letcher county, where all will live with Henry Miller, who has his home there.

John Ashley, Powell county's future multi-millionaire, was here at Stanton last week on business. He has sixteen oil wells now on his farm and some of them heavy producers.

It's not a preacher but perhaps some future wife of a preacher, that arrived at the home of Richard Crowe this past week. Mother and daughter are doing well and receiving congratulations.

Ben Hall had the misfortune to fall and hurt himself severely this past week but he is able to be out again. Uncle Ben's well along in years and his step not as firm and steady as it once was.

The County Sunday School Picnic

The County Sunday School Picnic will be held at Natural Bridge on Thursday, July 19th. A special rate has been given for Clay City, children from 5 to 12, 25 cents; adults 50 cents, on the regular train going and returning. The delay in setting the time was owing to the desire of some to have a special train to return.

Those who take the train at Stanton, Rosslyn, Filson, or Nada, can see their agent and ask him to secure the excursion rate for that day.

Four Sunday Schools have been heard from for the guarantee and we trust the rest will do their part by going.

This will be a fine opportunity for the people to get together not only for pleasure but for the betterment of all the county people. Co-operation means progress. A special program will be provided. Further announcements will be made in the Times.

R. C. Hall and his boys, with M. R. Lyle and Jouett Boone, motored to Mt. Sterling this past week. Jouett went on to Frenchburg where he visited his sister, Mrs. B. A. Hamilton, for a few days.

The writer is the recipient of a fine cart from a friend in Philadelphia, who sends it as a gift. It looks as if he will have to hustle around for a horse to match the cart, for the cart wont run without the horse.

Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Hanley partook of a bountiful dinner at the home of Judge A. T. Knox and spent the day there. They also visited at the home of R. A. Harter of Nada, where they enjoyed the day and the hospitality.

Miss Fella Thomas, of Pleasant Grove, in Owsley county, will teach the Tintown school this year. The writer spent Sunday night at their home, and Tintown is fortunate in getting such a fine teacher. She and Miss Malinda Hatten were room mates at Eastern State Normal this past year.

Loaded wagons are now going up the new road out, to Furnace and wagoners say they can haul much larger loads with more ease and less wear on their teams. The road will improve as it is used more. Mr. Evans drove the first auto down the hill, coming down at 11 o'clock one night last week.

The writer was over in Owsley this past Sunday at Clifty church where he met Rev. Wm. Kyp, who formerly lived here. He is holding a revival meeting there. Their home is in Pikeville now and a new baby boy arrived at their home some days ago, which makes seven boys and one girl they have now.

An experiment demonstration is being made of the lot of Dr. Johnson, between Bill Scott and Tom Boone. Howard Harrison will have charge of the experiment. The ground is being treated to a special application of limestone and phosphate and

The Farm Hand and the War.

The implement makers are right in their plea for the conservation of farm labor, as a war measure.

The farm hand who is experienced is a skilled laborer. There are, of course, unskilled laborers upon farms. There are laborers in every field of human endeavor who lack the intelligence or the intention to become skilled. Such men on farms must be led or driven, but a majority of steady laborers on farms know a good deal about tillage and about stock feeding and possess a fair rough and ready ability as mechanics. Implements for farms require frequent tinkering. A little mechanical ability often saves a trip to the blacksmith shop, or even an order for the replacement of parts, and a long delay. Many farm hands have that ability.

Plumbing, to mention one trade, is skilled labor in cities. If the average farm hand at thirty or forty years of age were put in a plumber's shop and provided with tools he could learn to be a plumber sooner than the average plumber of the same age could learn to be a farmer if he were placed on a farm and provided with the implements and tools used in farming. The same comparison might be made between the capable farm laborer and the skilled laborer in many city trades and in factories. It may be made without disparagement of the ability of the skilled laborer of the city.

In many instances, the farm hand begins in his school days to acquire knowledge of his calling, and there are many capable men on farms who are under the maximum military age. The brunt of the hard labor on farms must fall upon able-bodied men whose powers of resistance of taxing physical labor and exposure to weather are great. The trained farm hand between young manhood and middle age is the prop of agriculture. Those who are of military age should be, and no doubt they will be, considered by exemption boards as valuable factors in the problem of producing a sufficient supply of food and clothing, for clothing, like food, is an agricultural product largely. Wool, leather, cotton come from farms.

A thorough combing of farms for able-bodied men of military age, who are of no great value to farmers would result in a considerable number of men available for military service. The farm hands who are steady men, and who are skilled and dependable producers of food, the share farmers and tenant farmers and small proprietors whose work begins and ends by lantern light in winter and begins before sunrise and ends after sunset in summer must be left on the farms if the war is to be won upon the farms as well as upon the firing line.

Local exemption boards will not find it difficult to ascertain whether or not a given ruralist whose name is drawn for service is an actual, steady, useful farm hand or farmer. There is no calling in which a man's usefulness or lack of it is known so widely and so definitely in the neighborhood.

Send the habitual country slackers to war and agriculture will suffer but little, but no agricultural worker who really is useful should be allowed to go, even if military service attracts him and he makes no effort to secure exemption. There will be many, no doubt, who will not make excuses.

The capable farm hand should not be sent to war because he is willing to go. He should be kept on the land and told that his services will be more valuable there than in the army. The dodger who has made his first acquaintance with farm work this summer because he is of military age is in another category.—Courier-Journal.

The good women of Clay City have organized a Civic League. This is very commendable of them. Our ladies may always be depended upon to do the right thing for the uplift of town and people. These women are the life of the churches, and now they come to the rescue of "cleanliness," which, we read, is next to "godliness."

There is no reason why Clay City should not be more beautiful and attractive, and it will be if the people who make the town will heed the modest advice of these ladies. The Times' environments doubtless need some renovation, and we are ready to obey the wise and just requests of those good ladies, and the Times calls upon all others to do likewise.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has approved an increase of 15 cents in rates on coal from the Kentucky mines and from the mines of certain other States.

This was unnecessary, as all the roads were earning large dividends before the increase. This is nothing more nor less than a tax on coal. The coal can stand the tax, but why not this tax come to the States which need it? The people will have the bill to pay and it will land in the pockets of persons who already have plenty money.

Some of the bitterest complain-ers against the heat wave are strikingly like the gentlemen who were recently knocking the late elongated winter.

Gambling in food is gambling in lives and human liberty. Penitentiary stripes for food gamblers is too good for such characters.

Give Farmers Real Aid.

If all the gratuitous advice tendered the farmers since the food crisis developed were compiled in one work, the encyclopaedia Britannica would not hold it. Possibly there was some sound sense in portions of it. Certainly the major portion of it has been the merest drivel.

It is not advice that the farmer needs. If there is a class of men in this nation today who are really familiar with every phase of their profession, it is the farmers. And it is often with a feeling of amused contempt that they read the senseless vaporings of the wisecracks who essay to instruct them.

What the farmer is in dire need of right now is more man power—man power to put into effect the plans he is perfectly capable of formulating and carrying out if he has agents to do his bidding. Let him be ever so intelligent—and as a rule he is a person of sound sense and reason—he simply can not cultivate a hundred acre farm by himself. But he can utilize a thousand acres if he has the man power with which to do it, for he already has the brains.

We should make no mistake in this matter. With practically the world to feed, if this war is won and farmers will play an important part in the winning, and all of the advice from those slackers who have nothing else to give is not going to help him one whit.

"Can" the advice and offer him work—good sound muscle and sweat—and the farmer will feed the world and do his "bit" toward winning the war.

The most obvious fact to the farmer is that, in the approaching draft and mobilization, the first army to be raised should be an army of the furrows, and that army should be brought to the furrows from the fields of work or idleness. And at no time will this need be more pressing than on the day of harvest.

The average farmer can extract all of the advice he needs just now from a long life of experience. What will be most effective now is bone and muscle, backed by a willing mind and an intelligence that even approaches his own.

Get the man power. The farmer will do the rest.—Mt. Sterling Gazette.

WAGONS BUGGIES HARNESS

AMPLE PROOF THAT IT DOES—AND IS DOING—ITS WORK

My father purchased our Studebaker before I was born. I remember having seen it 40 years ago. Just a short time ago I hauled 3,000 pounds of coal on this wagon, so you can judge it is some wagon yet, for an old one.

I use the old Studebaker every day or whenever I need a wagon. It has always stood out in all kinds of weather up to eight or nine years ago, when I commenced keeping it under cover.

Charles Stratton,

Hauls 3000 pounds of coal on 40 year old Studebaker

In the 80 acre lumber yard of Studebaker at South Bend is the largest stock of wagon material in the world—and none has been more carefully selected.

The good material isn't the whole answer—it is combined with skilled workmanship and that's why Studebaker wagons last forty years.

Studebakers build wagons today just as strong as they built them forty years ago. And the wagon that lasts longest is the cheapest wagon in the end.

There are a lot of reasons why the next wagon you buy should be a Studebaker.

We have just received a car load of Studebaker wagons, and by buying them in car load lots can save you money. We have them in the following sizes—size 3 1-4 in. with tires 1 3-4 in. wide, size 3 1-4 in. with tires 1 1-2 in. wide, size 3 in. with tires 1 3-4 in. wide, size 3 in. with tires 1 1-2 in. wide, size 2 3-4 in. with tires 1 1-2 in. wide and size 2 1-2 in. with 1 1-2 in. tires.

We invite you to call when in need of anything in merchandise. It is our aim to keep as near as is possible every thing the people call for. We handle good, up-to-date goods and at prices that will save you money. If you are interested in saving money in this way call and see what we can do for you.

THE EVILS OF CONSTIPATION

Constipation is one of the main reasons why the average human life is below 40 years. Leaving waste material in the body poisons the system and blood and makes us liable to sick headaches, biliousness, nervousness and muddy skin. When you note these symptoms, try Dr. King's New Life Pills. They give prompt relief, are mild, non-gripping in action, add tone to your system and clear the complexion. At your druggist, 25c. adv

About Dry Measures.

While Congress is debating on wartime prohibition, two departments of the Government are preparing to put into effect in 21 states July 1 the bone dry amendment to the Post office Appropriation Act. This act makes it a Federal violation to ship intoxicating liquors into a state where the manufacture is forbidden by state law. It provides, also, that publishers shall not mail liquor advertisements into states barring the same. It is said some liquor houses will ignore the law altogether and test the constitutionality of the act. The road to good laws is always very rough and dangerous, and seems that this law is to have its measure full of troubles.

The well being drilled for oil on J. D. Atkinson's land is going down fine. Quite a heavy flow of gas was struck at a depth of about 200 feet, enough to supply several houses, probably. While the men were at breakfast Tuesday morning this gas in some way became ignited. The hotel porter discovering it notified the drillers. They had great difficulty in extinguishing the blaze and saving their machine. Very little damage was done.
